

Resources for Educators

The following sites have resources for educators who have military children in their classrooms.

Military OneSource has links to resources that can connect children and youth to opportunities that can help them in their education and other area. There is information on school liaisons, ways for kids to connect, camp opportunities, references, and counseling.

Military Kids Connect has information for parents, educators, and providers on military life, relationships, feelings, health and wellness, and caring for children and youth. The Educator site has warning signs, suggested questions and specific resources and worksheets to help kids cope. The site also has suggestions for including military life in the curriculum and strategies to create a supportive environment for military students. militarykidsconnect.health.mil/Caring-for-Our-Youth/Educators

The Educator Toolkit to Increase Awareness and Support to Military Children in Schools was developed by Bonnie Ohye, Ph.D, Paula Rauch, M.D., and Jeffrey Bostic, M.D., Ed.D. for the Red Sox Foundation and Massachusetts General Hospital Home Base Program & Massachusetts Child Psychiatry Access Project. The Toolkit is designed to assist educators to become more familiar with the achievements, strengths, and unique challenges military-connected students face and identify a student's coping resources and stress.
